

A Beginner's Guide To Bidding On Our Materials For Auction part 1

If you've never attended, let alone placed a bid on our Materials for Auction because you're not quite sure how it all works, then this is the article for you. The first thing you need to know is 'bidding at an auction not quite as tricky as you might think it is'. Auctions, like ours, can be an extremely cost-effective way to purchase the materials you need to build, renovate or furnish your property. But, like everything else you do, you need to have a bit of an idea of what you're doing and what materials for auction you need.

Basically, an Auction is when two or more participants take turns suggesting (or bidding) an increasing amount they are prepared to pay for an item. The bidding stops when one reaches the highest amount they are prepared to pay, leaving the other to place a 'winning' bid.

Renovator Auctions proudly supports Fair Trading NSW's strictly controlled process of auctions in Sydney.

To guide your way and show you how to avoid the pitfalls first time bidders can experience, we've put together this first time buyer's guide. Bidding on our materials for auction usually follows a similar process to most other auctions, but there are a few little differences you might experience at Renovator Auctions.

The very first thing you should do is read our blogs 'What Is Auctions?' - about the fascinating history of Auctions, and 'Auction Guide' for a quick, general guide to the different types of auctions running in Sydney.

Do Your Research

Make sure you know exactly what building or home improvement materials for auction you need, and approximately what you expect to pay for it.

Pay Us A Visit

If you've never visited Renovator Auctions before, you are in for an amazing treat. You won't believe the massive range of materials we handle each week. Before you decide to bid, it's extremely beneficial to become familiar with the general layout of our showrooms, know what materials for auction we stock each week, and understand the process we follow.

Attend an auction

It can be a little overwhelming coming in and placing bids if you've never experienced the excitement of one of our auctions before. What better way to prepare yourself than to watch one in progress. If you're looking to purchase either soft or hard wood, roofing materials, decking, etc., then you probably need to come on a Wednesday, but if you need white goods, tiles, furniture, and other materials for the interior of your property, then check out our Saturday materials for auction.

Follow the Catalogues

Every item we have up for bidding is listed in either or Building Materials, or Home Improvement Catalogues that are uploaded onto our website at 5pm every Friday night. Make sure you also check out and understand the terms and conditions for purchase listed materials for auction.

Now, you should have a pretty good idea of how we work, so it's time to attend an auction with the intent of making a bid!
